

From: root@wt6.usdoj.gov@inetgw
To: Microsoft ATR,antitrust@ftc.gov@inetgw,Ralph@essen...
Date: 11/23/01 5:06am
Subject: Microsoft Hegemony: The Face Of God

CC: letters@latimes.com@inetgw,letters@sjmercury.com@i...

Re: The Case Against Microsoft

- > James, during the Georgetown speech, repeatedly
- > defended the settlement and addressed many of the
- > criticisms, which he blamed largely on rivals.

He blames criticism? This does not compute. Is criticism a crime? The criticism is legitimate. Where is the accountability? Where are the principles?

- > "We've never had competitors be quite so aggressive,"
- > James said. "Some of them had hoped for a broad-scale
- > emasculation of the company."

"Thank you, assistant A.G. James, for defending Microsoft. People need to put face on almighty Dallah, you know, ka ching ka ching. This is role I play in big scheme of thing - for to rally DJIA... Rivals are devils not for benefit to Wall Street..."